

To our valued Customers,

Due to the recent recalls in the toy industry, we have had some concerns from customers regarding the safety of our toys, in particular those that are imported from China. We want to reassure you that we take this issue very seriously, and that the safety of the toys that we carry is always of the utmost importance.

With my teaching background in Montessori education, being a mother of a young toddler and a proud owner of Smarty Pants for over 4 years, my goal has always been to deliver a selection of toys and games of the highest quality. With this being said, I make sure I purchase from distributors and manufactures in the toy business that do not put price before quality, materials and workmanship. That's what makes us different from the "big box" retailers. If there were any concerns on the safety of our products, rest assure that our customers would be notified in more ways than one!

We thank you very much for your interest and concerns, and hope that our customers continue to value the quality of our products!

Sincerely,

Christina Fortuna
